"Crime, Policing, and Anti-Black Racism in Canada and the United States"

In the past year, the killing of George Floyd and the resurgence of the Black Lives Matter movement in North America has elevated the issue of anti-Black racism in criminal justice matters to the top of the political agenda and has re-energized a widespread movement for reform. This panel will explore and compare the contours of anti-Black racism in Canada and the United States and assess efforts to institute real and lasting change in the realm of criminal Justice.
